About Conference

Sustainable management looks beyond short-term profits and focuses on long-term gain by incorporating the environmental and social costs of doing business. Also it is a need of an hour to ensure human resource in order to reduce the risk of exhaustion by allowing them to recover. It relates to all three areas viz. environment, future generation and economy through resource conservation.

In the field of international business, HR is most important resource and for sustainable management its conservation can be managed through peace and harmony. Therefore, Mulshi Institute of Business Management (MIBM) has decided to organize an international conference on this theme.

The International Conference on Sustainable Management for Peace and Harmony (ICSMPH-2024) organized by MIBM, Pune, Maharashtra, India during 14-15 March, 2024 in hybrid mode aims to bring together leading academicians, researchers, research scholars and corporate practitioners to exchange and share their experiences and research results on latest trends in sustainable management.

In the contemporary world, sustainability has emerged not only as a topic of research but also an important area for its application in businesses. The principles of sustainability recommend an integrated approach that takes environmental and social concerns along with economic development. This conference will provide a platform for the presentation of Research articles and Case studies in the field of major pillars of sustainability defined as below:

Contemporary issues in Sustainable Management: Sustainability is the key to our survival on this planet and will also determine success on all levels

Sustainable HRM and Innovations: The only waste of human resources is letting them go unused

Shaping the Future of Work and Technology: Sustainable technology is well-reputed for saving costs and speeding up productivity

New trends in Global Market: To hit their sustainability targets, leaders must combine vision and pragmatism

Global Trends in Sustainable Management for Peace and Happiness

Peace and Harmony are the key components of sustainable Development. A healthy business environment is important for development, and in conflict-ridden communities, business operations are disrupted due to the unreliable social problems.

In a society where positive peace prevails, enterprises can ensure greater profitability. Promoting peace, harmony and sustainable management reduces poverty and prevents conflict, translating to a healthier business environment that allows for a more effective delivery of products and services.

Although sustainable management is a key focus in modern times, the work on it is still in its early phase. The effectiveness of sustainable management practices is uncertain. Therefore, this conference aims to provide a brief review of the state-of-the-art and offer some future directions in this emerging area, with special attention to peace and harmony.

- To empower academics, researchers and professionals to build collaborative networks in the field of business and human resource management
- To strengthen and transform the global effort and influence decision making to shape the future of Business and human resource
